THE GAMEMASTER IS MOVING!

THE GAMEMASTER IS MOVING!

All Winter moves should still be sent to me at 4970 N. Marine Drive, apt 525, Chicago 60640. Winter moves will be due on March 22, 1973 by 4 PM. (Thursday)
 The subsequent spring moves and all Fall moves will due on Thursday April 5, 1973 by 4PM at 644 Briar place, Chicago 60657. I will have a telephone by April 2, but I do not know the new number as yet. You can still call 312-275-7150 and the phone company will give you the new number.
 Now I must emphasize that if you send moves to Marine in the last week of March they may or may not reach me there. Forwarded mail has a better chance to get lost and a much better chance to get delayed. Therefore mail to me at Marine up until Saturday March 24. From March 25 to March 30 DON'T SEND ME ANYTHING! On March 31 send mail to Briar Place. I will NOT be responsible for mail postmarked on March 25 or later sent to Marine drive!

XX
 Due to the fact that I am moving soon and very pressed for time--and money--this issue of LD and likely LD 43 will be only 10 pages long. I am going to try to make up for this with LD 44 which will be a special 4th anniversary issue. It will be full of many surprises and articles. I hope you will enjoy it!

XX
 LES LIAISONS DANGEREUSES is proud to add another person to our staff. With this issue Mr. Stephen Davis, of 4117 S. Oakley, Chicago 60609 joins LD as resident--see that "Constance"!--artist. Also Mr. Larry Blandin returns with MUSINGS. The latter will be less of a joy to some as the splendid art work of Steve Davis.

THE LEGEND OF CLAUD OPOPOPOKOWSKI.....

by Lenard W. Lakofka

Yesterday, in my daily batch of mail, I noticed the torn corner of an envelope! I KNEW this was a request from some beleaguered soul in Okonowak, to learn how Claud Oopoopookowski began! Claud, for those of you who attend the theater, is a character in HAIR--sort of super Polish super-patriot. So I stole the character and placed him in JASTRAZAB--cruel, aren't I? The first instalment went like this:

METROPOLIS (16 July, 1900)

The day was a hot and musty one in the great city. Lois Lewandowski looked up from her four-scoop banana split--with crushed nuts and seven cherries--to see a lone Irish gunman holding up the Second National Bank and keeping nineteen Italian guards at bay with his sulfuric acid water pistol. "Egad! This is a job for..."

Just at that instant a crowd formed outside the coffee shop and yelled, in unison; "LOOK! Up in the sky!"

"It's a bird"

"It's a plane!"

"No, it's Claud Oopoopookowski!"

(Claud Oopoopookowski, who disguised as Fed Oopoopookowski, mild-mannered sanitary engineer for a great city dump, fights a never ending battle for truth, justice, and a chance to break even at Friday's bowling match. He's faster than a PR on a skate board! More powerful than a two week old bag lunch! Able to jump tall garbage cans in a single bound!)

Claud landed in the alley next to the bank amidst 44 garbage cans and assorted crates. The loud crash broke the ear drums of the bandid and he was apprehended after a two hour chase through the Hadley School for the Blind on east 34th St.

"Oh Claud! My Hero!" cried Lois, who just barely squeezed out from behind the soda fountain and staggered into the street.but Claud was off to his 436 HP Mack Garbage truck to clean up the West Side.

((Why?)))

.....and it was continued! But Wrobel censored it TWICE. Oh yes, faithful reader, Stan Wrobel; Pollock, patriot, troll--has CENSORED another of my press releases! I became faint.....see my recovery in the next issue of JASTRAZAB and follow the adventures of Claud and Lois (pictured on our cover) in both JASTRAZAB and here in LD--two separate stories from now on! Why did you just get sick all over this zine?

BULLETIN!

Games Research has just issued a booklet on Play by mail Diplomacy. It gives a brief introduction and then lists a number of publishers to contact for game openings and information. Your humble publisher ((I though Lakofka did this zine)) was among those chosen.....BLUSH. Our reply is titled KALEIDOSCOPE. It is a brief introduction to postal Diplomacy and a listing of some selected publishers for further information. This will be sent to all persons who contact me from the GRI flyer. It will also be sent to the IDA to include in its novice packets. Anyone from LD who would like a copy send me 10¢.

My warmest congratulations to all the victors in the IDA elections, and especially to Chic Hilliker, my opponent for Mid-west regional secretary who beat me better than 2 to 1. Many of the programs and policies I had planned to conduct appear to be started by Chic. I am relieved he'll be doing the work instead of me.

It will surprise some of you to learn that Lenard Lakofka has been appointed Ombudsman of the IDA. Congratulations len. In Diktat spearheaded by Edi Birsan, it was decided that Len should fill this vacancy without consulting the membership, although there is no clear provision for this in the IDA Constitution. There is a real question about the constitutionality of this act. On the other hand, it would seem that at least the Mid-West regional membership does not seriously object to the IDA's officers being appointed rather than elected. I tried to raise this point in one of my campaign announcements, and was roundly trounced for my effort. Vox populi, vox Dei.

It is hoped there is no misunderstanding on this, I count Len as a good friend ((God help me if I were his enemy)) and I'm glad to see him on the IDA council. But I would have thought that the membership would want to determine who has the knowledge and temperament to be the Ombudsman, rather than Birsan, ((What do you mean I don't have the temperament, you *&%%$#!))

Former IDA President Larry Peery was troubled by a shrinking consensus during his short term. President Birsan has apparently determined that membership and council support will not trouble his administration. Opting for a strong executive policy he has decreed that only he shall determine which bills will be submitted to the IDA council for consideration, thus making it impossible to even impeach him no matter what he does in his two year reign. ((Inaccurate. We get a shot every Nov and December)) I thought that one of the reasons Edi left TDA was because he objected to rule by clique and personality. His formal announcement suspending the IDA's constitution is waited for with baited breath. I am genuinely surprised by Edi's apparent about face. Now it is rule by EDict. But maybe the desire for Imperial power is merely brought by some pollutant in New York's air. oh well.

Does anyone know if issue #36 of STRATEGY & TACTICS is out? They're in serious financial trouble and some are wondering how far behind schedule they are going to fall. If any event, the INTERNATIONAL GAME SHOW has received an indication from Rod Walker is not gone from the Diplomacy Hobby! Mark Twain once observed that rumors of his death were grossly exaggerated (Twain's, not Walker's). Such is a similar case with Rod. He is still active in 1972 BD (although it is alleged he is merely lending his name as a front for somebody else, I find this hard to believe because Rod always insisted that it was most unethical when John Beshara did it-- or did he mean it was because John did it,) and now Rod has begun to edit a new magazine. For details and a surprise, write Rod Walker, P.O. Box 1506, La Mesa Calif. 92041. Glad you're still with us, Rod.

THE PEERS OF PEERIGRAD

When Leerie Peerie was born, a star fell from heavin (The glue in the Royal Pleasure dome didn't hold toowell.). On his tenth birthday he slew his father, Peerless Pmpous Peerie the 17th, and became PEERIE THE ONLY. Peerie Peerie Peerie, (he changed his first name and abolished the word sovereign--calling it Peerie, instead) then decreed that the capitol of Slobodnikoviski should be changed from PEERLESS' CAPITOL CITY to PEERIGRAD. He was so overjoyed with this change that he began to change all titles, names, nouns, verbs, adjectives, etc., to become PEERIWORDS, which went into the PEERIBOOK (formerly dictionary). Entire volumes of encyclopedias became useless as they shrunk to containing but one thin leaf of from 20 to 60 words, while the "P" volume became 17,432 Peeripages long!

Peerie's next innovation occurred on his 17th birthday, when he invented abbreviations, or Peeripointing. Peeripointing caught on with the Peers of Peeriland, but it created havoc for the Peeripost, which had to deliver all of the Perriprattle (formerly letters, postcards, magazines, newspapers, etc.). Peerie's address became Peerless, Peerie Peerie Peerie, Peerichamber, Peeriwing, Peeripalace, Peeriestate, Peerijavo, Peericounty, Peeriprovince, Peeriland, or Peer. to the twelfth! The Peers of Peeriland loved Peeripointing so much that entire books were written in Peeripoint, but, since "Peer." was the Peeripoint for just about everything, life became confusing! People went to a store for Peerijuice and got a Peeriwagon, or asked for a Peeriloan at the Peeribank and got shot by the Peeriguard if they hiccuped! Even the national Peerianthem was kind of pointless.

(sing to the tune of Little Brown Jug....)

Peer. Peer., Peer.;

Peer., and Peer.

Peer-less, Peer, Peer, Peer. love Peer. etc.

Everyone in Peeriland had Peeri-itis (acute buchial verbosity, coupled with diarrhea of the mouth, a tendency toward sporadic breathing, and terminal name-drop-itis) after just one year of intense Peeripointing!

.....and so, as we leave Peeriland, we see Peerless Peerie Peerie Peerie printing a letter from Norman Stinkin' Rackwell; complimenting Peerie on his Peerirag, and the John Farnsworth Nobody award, for the first prize in the Peerless Peerie Peerie Peerie Peeripointing contest; but not wanting to be included on its mailing list!

The first issue of XENOGOGIC, now that it is photo-offset, has just appeared. While it has some interesting articles for political scientist (taken from various poorly documented sources) it has very little interest for the Diplomacy player. As per usual it is full of a lot of verbiage...and little else. It does offer a prize for a game designing contest. The entrant should note, that he must send his entire game to Peery and then give Peery rights on the game for one year AND pay a fee. During that 1 year period there is nothing to prevent TTT publications from doing whatever it cares to with your game/ideas including selling them, with no sign of profit, or perhaps even credit for the game designer. We urge to stay away from both XENOGOGIC AND THE CONTEST!

The playing of the game is reward in itself, but there is much more available to the player! Many publishers (whose magazines can be subscribed to without being a player therein) carry features in addition to the games. These features include: cassettes of the players, articles on all aspects of the game, from strategy and tactics, to record keeping, editorials on far reaching subjects--not necessarily

VII You and Diplomacy

The greatest glory of the game, though, is found in the player's ability to express himself. He can do this in negotiations--all of your skill and literary talents, at last, have a forum--or through the press, or through letter columns, articles and perhaps your own magazine! Press releases are used to; announce items of interest, make threats, explain victories (or defeats), be satirical, etc. Some absolutely side splitting humor and ribald chicanery can be found in press releases!

VII. Some tips on mechanics

The US Postal Service is a bummer! To protect yourself against lost or late moves and magazines do some of these things;

1. Mail a set of orders as soon as the magazine arrives--you can always change your moves later.
2. When you mail your final set of orders allow 3 or 4 days for delivery!! (Disregard the Postal Service propaganda of 1 to 2 day delivery--it's a lie) If over 500 miles from your home, prefer Air Mail.
3. Mail two sets of orders, in separate envelopes.
4. Ask the GM to return a stamped self addresses post card when he receives your orders.
5. When you mail to a person whose address you are unsure of, request the PO to give you his new address. This costs 10¢--the PO will bill you.

To reach the GM by phone;

1. Please be considerate! Call him in the early and mid-evening HIS TIME from 6PM to 10:30 PM. No one likes calls at 5AM or at 2 in the afternoon to someone else.
2. To obtain a person's phone number dial 211 and ask for the area code. Now dial the area code plus 555-1212. That gives you directory assistance in that area code.
3. Don't use Western Union. They are more fucked up than the post office!
